

2.3.1: Student-centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning, and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences and teachers use ICT-enabled tools including online resources for effective teaching and learning processes.

Project methods: The project work stimulates student's interest in the subject and provides students an opportunity for freedom of thought and free exchange of different views. As per the requirement of syllabi, the project work is done. For example, the Projects are done in PG classes like M. Sc. Chemistry.

Interactive methods: The faculty members make learning interactive with students by motivating student participation in group discussion, subject quizzes, discussion and questions and answers on current affairs, etc. Classroom discussions on various topics are done.

ICT-Enabled Teaching: ICT-enabled teaching includes a Wi-Fi-enabled classroom with LCD, delivering online lectures, use of Google Classroom, etc. The institution adopts modern pedagogy to enhance the teaching-learning process. The institution has the essential equipment to support the faculty members and students.

Experiential learning: Experimental/Laboratory method is used in science subjects to acquaint the students with the facts through direct experience individually. Students verify the facts and laws of the subject with the help of experiments. Especially, the department of Chemistry, Physics, Botany, Zoology, and Geography uses this method. Students take an active interest and learn things via experiential learning.

Student Seminars: The student seminars are organized where students on their subject topics present the papers to enrich their learning experience.

Group Learning Method: The Group Learning method is now being adopted through WhatsApp groups. Student share their notes and study materials through this method. WhatsApp groups are made by a student or by a teacher to share information.

Blackboard presentation: In this method, each student is given a certain question. And student has to solve this problem on the blackboard. The Department of Mathematics uses this method to enhance learning outcomes among students.

The Department of Chemistry regularly organizes industrial visits and Bank visits. The departments organize study tours to get first-hand knowledge and experiential learning. Well-equipped laboratories of science departments enhance the experiential learning of the students. Creative use of ICT in teaching-learning processes enhances the comprehension of the conceptual and theoretical understanding of the students as well as also kindles students' enthusiasm and creates better involvement in the learning process.

Participative learning is increased by motivating students to participate in seminars, workshops, and conferences organized by the college. Students actively interact with teachers and enjoy participatory, experiential learning.

Minutes- Introduction

The minutes of a meeting are the record of the discussions/decisions taken in a meeting. Minutes have an official status and are useful in all the important fields like Education, Law, Politics etc. Minutes are final when they are approved by the members of the group and signed by the chairperson. Minutes are written in an unemotional, cool, factual, impersonal and impartial manner even if there is an emotional moment in the meeting.

Minutes...

On the day of the meeting, the chairperson of the organization coordinates the meeting. The secretary notes down the discussion of the meeting in the form of a draft. All discussions are not noted down in the draft but only the main conclusion of the meeting is noted down. The secretary is takes down the notes by using short forms, shorthand etc. He/She may ask the members to repeat their words to get them right. He/She should note down all the particulars needed for the fair copy of minutes

Chap - 2 Kabuliwala

Rabindranath Tagore

SUMMARY: "Kabuliwala" by Tagore is a tale of heart-rending friendship between a 5-year-old Bengali girl Minnie and an Afghan moneylender, Abdur Rahman or Rahamat. The story beautifully ties a bond of mutual affection and the unconventional relationship between the two.

The Inception of an Odd Friendship: The voice of the story is lent by the father of Minnie. Rahamat, who is a hawker of dry fruits and shawls from Kabul, frequents the Bengali locales where Minnie and her family reside. He was a strapping, turban-clad man and fascinated Minnie. One day she called him from the window of her house. But as he approached closer she got startled and ran back inside. Minnie's father talked to Rahamat and learned about his family in Kabul. He introduced Minnie to him with the title of Kabuliwala. To make her more comfortable Rahamat offered some dry fruits to Minnie. He started calling Minnie as Khuki (a child). As their friendship blossomed, Minnie and Rahamat started meeting and interacting every day. Rahamat narrated stories of his homeland to Minnie and the young girl happily returned the warmth with her own innocent tales and playfulness. Kabuliwala listened to the young girl with great intent and relish.

Misfortune Overtakes the Kabuliwala: However, the maidservant of Mini's parents started filling the ears of Rama, Minnie's mother regarding the Kabuliwala's true intention. Soon, Minnie's mother grew suspicious of this flourishing friendship and feared that Rahamat might even kidnap and sell her daughter. She also stopped paying Kabuliwala for his goods. On the other hand, Kabuliwala's woes magnified as he got arrested for stabbing a customer after getting involved in a scuffle. The tiff started due to non-payment of a Rampuri shawl that the Kabuliwala sold to the customer. The customer denied having ever bought the shawl and that caused Rahamat to lose his control. During the trial, he confessed to killing the man even after being advised against it by his lawyer. The judge decided to reduce his punishment to 10-years actually Minnie's wedding day. But...

Rahamat to leave the premises owing to his ill-fated and inauspicious absence. Kabuliwala obliged but while leaving offered some raisins for Minnie. He also showed a scruffy piece of paper with a handprint of his daughter that he left in Kabul. Seeing that her father's heart melted and he called Minnie. Mini was dressed and embellished as a bride but was too apprehensive to meet her long-forgotten friend. Kabuliwala was taken aback to see a girl he could not recognize and struggle with the reality of the time he lost while imprisoned. He was... the thought of having lost his own daughter's childhood. She would have been a grown woman like Minnie. Minnie's father understood his precarious condition and offered him enough money

Name:- Lokesh Dineshwar Mishra.

Roll No:- 61

Class:- F.Y. B.A

Topic on:- Sigmund Freud

Erich Neumann

He had a theoretical and philosophical approach to analysis, contrasting it with more clinical concern in England and the United States. His most valuable contribution to the psychology was the empirical concept of "Contra-vision", a synthesis of extra and introversion. However, he is best known for his history of female development, a theory formulated in numerous publications, most notably THE GREAT MOTHER. His works also educate the way to mythology throughout history, reveals aspects of the development of consciousness that are parallel in both the individual and society as a whole.

WORKS :-

His most enduring contribution to Jungian thought are:-

The origin and history of consciousness (1949) &

The Great Mother (1955)

Another work, Depth

Psychology and a New Ethic, reflects on human destructiveness and the way the human mind relates to its own shadow.

Neumann further in Female Archetype, Creative unconscious, The Fear of the, Archer and Psyche

Neumann also wrote The Archetype, Beginning (Der Archetypus), a critical study of the time.

In creating Psychoanalysis, Freud developed therapeutic techniques such as the use of free association and discovered transference, establishing its central role in the analytic process. Freud's modification of sexuality to include its infantile forms led him to formulate the Oedipus Complex as the central tenet of Psychoanalytical Theory.

His analysis of dreams as wish-fulfillment provided him with models for the clinical analysis of symptoms formation and he went on to develop a model of psychic structure, the existence of libido, an energy with which mental processes and which generate erotic attachments, and death drive, the source of compulsive repetition, hate, aggression and neurotic guilt. In his later work Freud developed a wide-ranging interpretation and critique of religion and culture.

Though in overall decline as diagnostic and clinical practice, Psychoanalysis remains influential within Psychology, Psychiatry, and psychotherapy and across the Humanities.
